

Receiving a Distinguished Faculty Award at the 2013 Nebraska Law Alumni Council awards banquet held Friday, April 5 was former Grant resident Kevin Ruser.

Ruser is a 1971 graduate of Perkins County High School and a UNL Law College graduate.

Professor Ruser joined the Law College faculty in June, 1985, as a supervising attorney in the Civil Clinical Law Program. He was appointed assistant clinic professor in 1991, associate clinical professor in 1992 and clinical professor in 1997. He currently is the director of clinical programs at the College of Law and teaches in the Civil Clinic and Immigration Clinic.

He has also spent time abroad working on law reform and legal education reform projects.

Ruser is the son of Barb and the late Dick Ruser of Grant.
