

Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director, Dan Steinkruger, announced 89 counties, including Perkins County, have been designated as primary natural disaster areas due to the ongoing drought affecting Nebraska.

These counties were declared a Secretarial Disaster on April 10, based on the U. S. Drought Monitor drought intensity value.

“The 89 counties that received the Primary Secretarial Disaster Designation have a drought intensity value of extreme (D3) or exceptional (D4).” said Steinkruger.

At this time there are four counties in Nebraska that have not been declared a Secretarial Disaster. These counties are contiguous to counties that have received the declaration and are also eligible for certain disaster assistance due to drought. The four counties are: Nuckolls, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson.

This designation authorizes Emergency (EM) Loans for eligible producers. Steinkruger stated, “Producers are encouraged to contact their local FSA Service Center for detailed information about available programs and updated Secretarial Disaster Designations.”

In addition to the Emergency (EM) Loan Program, the FSA has other loan programs and disaster assistance programs which can be considered in assisting farmers to recover from their losses.
