

Omaha attorney Milo Alexander is leading a financial and legal issues workshop Sept. 8 at the Mid-Plains Community College extended campus in Imperial. The workshop is set for 6-8 p.m.

Topics include: Employment eligibility issues; contract labor vs. employment; grounds for firing; unemployment benefits; written agreements between partners; and organizing the legal structure of a business.

This is a free workshop. Pre-register by logging onto register.centerforenterprise.com. Or for more information contact the Center for Enterprise at 345-8122.

Alexander is the director the Community Economic Development Clinic at Creighton University School of Law.

At Creighton, he directs law, the school's clinical program representing micro-entrepreneurs and nonprofit organizations in rural areas and underserved urban communities across Nebraska and western Iowa.