

Those gathering across the Highline to honor the war dead were greeted with a sunny, calm morning Monday, creating an ambience of peace amongst the gravestones laden with colorful wreaths and flags.

