

Congressman Adrian Smith (R-NE) recently announced the launch of a new online office for the Third District with a redesigned website.

“It is a priority to provide the people of the Third District with access to the most up-to-date information about Congress and services available to them. I am excited to announce the launch of an improved online office at <http://adriansmith.house.gov>,” Smith said.

“The updated website features new content about relevant issues and streamlined access to the office’s services. I encourage constituents to visit <http://adriansmith.house.gov>, take advantage of these new tools, and sign-up for my newsletter.”

New features include:

- The Committee on Ways and Means & You—A special section of the website which provides a central location for news and information about Smith’s assignment to the Committee on Ways and Means and how it impacts the day-to-day lives of Nebraskans.
- The Trade Report—A section devoted to communicating information about international trade for Nebraska’s farmers, ranchers, manufacturers, and consumers.
- Tell Me Your Story—A special form where constituents can submit stories of how policy is impacting their lives and businesses.
- RSS Feed—Constituents with RSS (Real Simple Syndication) readers, such as Google Reader or Bloglines, can receive the most up-to-date news and information as soon as it is published.
